A telegram was received here Friday from Missouri announcing the death of Felix Garret, son of Mr. F. W. Garret, of this county. Orders were sent for the transmission of his body to his old home, and on Sunday it arrived by special train. The burial took place near the old home, eight miles above Louisville, on Monday.

Deceased was 23 years old and unmarried. He died rather suddenly from pneumonia. During several years past he has been in various parts of the West, but for some time he and his brother Dick had been located in southwestern Missouri, where their business prospects were bright.

Death is received the most unwelcome, possibly, by those in the prime of life and it calls forth the sympathies of strangers, even, to see a promising, hopeful young man stricken down by death's ruthless hand. We offer a full measure of sympathy to the relatives.

Burgess Thompson. A prominent and interesting wedding occurred last Wednesday at the residence of the bride's father, Mr. F. J. Burgess, nine miles above Louisville. It was the marriage of his handsome second daughter, Miss Corilla, to Dr. Z. A. Thompson, of Tennessee.

The affair was elegant in all its appointments. A special train from Ashland took the groom and some of the guests to the Burgess place, arriving at 11:30 a.m. Quite a large number of invitations were sent out, but owing to the death of an uncle of the bride a few days previous to the wedding, a recall was made of the greater part of them, and only about twenty guests were present.

By 12 o'clock everything was in readiness and the guests were assembled in the tastefully decorated parlor, when the familiar strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march announced the approach of the bridal party. Following Miss Julia Kline and Mr. E. T. Fling, the maid of honor and the groom's best man, came the principals. Advancing to the center of the room they knelt and in a brief but most solemn ceremony were made one. Without waiting for congratulations Mr. and Mrs. Thompson at once led the way to the dining room. A glance at the menu card gave promise of a feast fit for the gods; and it is safe to say that the hopes of the most pronounced epicure present were fully realized in the spread. After this interesting part of the program had received a full share of attention a short time was pleasantly spent in conversation; then came the preparation for departure. The train was boarded at 2:15 p.m. The couple will extend their bridal tour to Florida.

The bride looked her best in a travelling suit of navy blue broad cloth, with flowers. The bridesmaid was also elegantly dressed and carried a bunch of rare flowers.

There were a number of elegant presents—especially in silverware. The bride is one of those whose graces of mind and manner are of so high an order as to make it difficult to find words to fittingly rehearse them. She possesses in an unusual degree those qualities which combine to make the attractive and admirable woman, and it is conceded that a more beautiful young lady has not grown up in our midst.

The groom is a physician, but has for several years been more actively engaged in extensive railroad contracting, and it was while engaged in the latter business, in this section that he met his bride, nearly two years ago. He is a native of Tennessee and comes of a prominent family.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kline, is the bride's intimate school friend, and is from Lexington, Ky. Mr. Fling, the groom's man, is an excellent engineer, most favorably known here. Rev. H. J. Bevins, of the M. E. Church South, performed the ceremony.

For Burglary. Wm. Edwards was brought in Sunday by Sheriff Wilson upon a charge of burglarizing T. J. Dalton's store on George's creek, recently. An examining trial before Judge J. W. Rice was set for Monday. Edwards waived examination and his bond for appearance at Circuit Court was fixed at $500. Failing to execute it he was landed in jail.

A Good Suggestion. In time of peace prepare for war, is an old adage that we might often profit by observing. We often urged our people to prepare to fight through blinding barrels at every available place to catch water. A few barrels will cost but little, the water cost nothing, but if your house burns down for want of a little water to put it out—that costs something.—Editor Advance.

Miss V. Sweetnam closed her school at Independence on the 14th inst., with a large attendance, a good treat (candy) and an abundance of tears, from teacher and pupils.

Little Charles Brown, at once led the way to the dining room. A glance at the menu card gave promise of a feast fit for the gods; and it is safe to say that the hopes of the most pronounced epicure present were fully realized in the spread. After this interesting part of the program had received a full share of attention a short time was pleasantly spent in conversation; then came the preparation for departure. The train was boarded at 2:15 p.m. The couple will extend their bridal tour to Florida.

The bride looked her best in a travelling suit of navy blue broad cloth, with flowers. The bridesmaid was also elegantly dressed and carried a bunch of rare flowers.

There were a number of elegant presents—especially in silverware. The bride is one of those whose graces of mind and manner are of so high an order as to make it difficult to find words to fittingly rehearse them. She possesses in an unusual degree those qualities which combine to make the attractive and admirable woman, and it is conceded that a more beautiful young lady has not grown up in our midst.

The groom is a physician, but has for several years been more actively engaged in extensive railroad contracting, and it was while engaged in the latter business, in this section that he met his bride, nearly two years ago. He is a native of Tennessee and comes of a prominent family.

The bridesmaid, Miss Kline, is the bride's intimate school friend, and is from Lexington, Ky. Mr. Fling, the groom's man, is an excellent engineer, most favorably known here. Rev. H. J. Bevins, of the M. E. Church South, performed the ceremony.

For Burglary. Wm. Edwards was brought in Sunday by Sheriff Wilson upon a charge of burglarizing T. J. Dalton's store on George's creek, recently. An examining trial before Judge J. W. Rice was set for Monday. Edwards waived examination and his bond for appearance at Circuit Court was fixed at $500. Failing to execute it he was landed in jail.

A Good Suggestion. In time of peace prepare for war, is an old adage that we might often profit by observing. We often urged our people to prepare to fight through blinding barrels at every available place to catch water. A few barrels will cost but little, the water cost nothing, but if your house burns down for want of a little water to put it out—that costs something.—Editor Advance.

Continental Advice.

With the exception of three years as a snake-skin on a Western journal, I have had constant dealing with newspaper correspondents. My hair is yet black.

Let down the other day to compile a set of rules and suggestions for correspondents. The article is incomplete, but I deem it of sufficient length for present purposes. Following the rules given will probably insure insertion in the waste basket:

1. Write on both sides of the paper, then invert the sheet and write between the lines. The compositor can read it easily by standing on his head.
2. Use a blunt lead pencil by all means. If you can't find a pencil by all means. If you can't find a pencil, use ink. But a blue or red pencil is very tasty.
3. It is always necessary to capitalize small words like "to" and "it."

4. As for punctuation, that has gone out of date. It is only practiced now by the less intelligent of the Digger Indians.
5. If "news is sent" don't forget to speak of that fact in the opening of your letter. It makes a splendid introduction. Those words invariably rivet the reader's attention, and he becomes spell-bound, as it were.

6. Small matters like suicides and small-pox ought in all cases to be sacrificed in order to announce that "Sam Samson called to see his best girl Sunday."
- If "rumor says there will be a wedding soon," don't forget to say so in your letter. If you do, a little in a postscript. Don't mention of the fact will stamp you a literary genius.

8. In writing a proper name, it is only necessary to write the paper twice where the name should be. We know every son of Adam this side of the Mississippi river and will have no difficulty in supplying the omission. But remember to make a mark where you wish the name.—Portsmouth Times.

To Our Subscribers.

The special announcement which appeared in our columns some time since, announcing a special arrangement with Dr. J. B. Kendall & Co., of Louisville, Ky., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," which our subscribers were told to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address to J. B. Kendall & Co. (and enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) is renewed for a limited period. We will all will avail themselves of the opportunity of obtaining this valuable work. To every lover of the horse it is indispensable, as it contains in simple language all the diseases which afflict this noble animal. It is the phenomenal sale throughout the United States and Canada, make it stamped authority. Mention this paper when sending for "Treatise."

Special Orders.

Persons desiring goods for holiday use of any special design, quality or make can be accommodated by leaving orders at M. F. Conley's Jewelry Store, Those being partial to Duhne's goods will be supplied with them at prices guaranteed to be as low as they can get them direct from that establishment.

Come and see the Picture on exhibition at Sullivan, Wilson & Co.

If you want the best and cheapest flour in town go to Peters & Vinson.
